Online Marketing Account Manager
 £30k - £35k
 We're looking for someone to manage PPC, Remarketing, and Email for our clients. You'll be working directly with the clients, making sure we meet their expectations - on budget and on time.
 You might be agency or client side, so long as you know how to get great results for our clients we really don't mind! However, if you don't understand why knowing how much each conversion costs is important, or how to work out a percentage in excel - we're probably not the right place for you.

Senior Tutor's Administrator
 Full-time c £32k
 Reporting to the Senior Tutor this role will manage the new Student Records Officer position and the Visiting Students administrator. This role will be responsible for all arrangements relating to students on course, including organisation of registration, fresher's week, matriculation and any special arrangements for examinations. This post will also manage academic appointments, and will be responsible for tutorial teaching records and payments. Both students and academic appointments are international and it is essential that the appointee keeps up to date with relevant legal requirements. The role holder will act as secretary to four academic committees including the production of agenda and minute taking; she/he will be responsible to communications between the academic administration and other departments within the college.
 The hours are 37.5 per week, normally Monday to Friday 9am to 5pm with a 30 minute lunch break. On occasion there will be a requirement to work longer hours, particularly during the examination periods, which will include some Saturdays. All Bank Holidays during term time are working days. No annual leave can be taken during term time or examination periods.
 The successful applicant will be IT literate and have experience of working with databases and the ability to produce accurate reports, including numerical data. The appointee will work closely with the Student Records Officer, who will carry out routine tasks, and will support the Senior Tutor with routine and project work.
 You should be able to manage staff and relationships, lead and motivate, have a flexible approach to working, attention to detail and excellent organisational skills. As well as a commitment to providing efficient administration, the successful candidate will have:
 • supervisory/management experience
 • a good standard of education, to degree level or equivalent
 • relevant administrative experience involving computer-based records
 • discretion and good judgement
 • the ability to manage conflicting priorities and handle pressure
 • excellent communication and interpersonal skills: ability to speak and write clearly and concisely
 • a high standard of IT literacy; particularly Word and Excel, and have the ability to learn University specific systems including OSS and OXCORT
 • current eligibility to work in the UK
 We offer 35 days holiday (including bank holidays) pro rata, free meals whilst on duty and an Oxford University contributory pension scheme.
 To apply for the position, please send your CV and a brief covering letter explaining how your experience specifically matches our job criteria to marie.ruffe@lmh.ox.ac.uk
