FILM REVIEW

George St: Made In Dagenham [15]

ODEON (George St): daily until Thu 7: 3.00, 5.45, 8.30pm
PHOENIX PICTUREHOUSE: Mon 4, Tue 5, Thu 7: 1.15, 3.45, 6.20, 9.00pm; Wed 6: 11.30am (screening for parents & babies under 1), 3.45pm, 6.20pm, 9.00pm
VUE CINEMA: daily until Thu 7: 3.20, 6.00, 8.40pm

Made In Dagenham tells the story of the women machinist strikes at the Dagenham Ford plant, which eventually led to the Equal Pay Act. The women, who worked sewing the car seats together, were unfairly classed as unskilled workers and made to work in appalling conditions - this was not uncommon at the time, but was the first time women had ever been on strike.

The cast is extremely strong - Sally Hawkins as the leader of the action, Rosamund Pike as rich but still downtrodden supporter and Miranda Richardson as Barbara Castle all deliver vivid, moving performances, and Bob Hoskins as a sympathetic male union official is thoroughly charming. Kenneth Cranham also makes a wonderfully slimy villain of the piece. It also especially enjoyed the relationship between the protagonist and her essentially decent but occasionally narky husband, played by Daniel Mays.

I would have liked a little more in the way of grit and a little less sentimentality from the film, though some of the detail of the day-to-day business of being on

OXFORD LIMITED
Oxford Limited is a wholly owned subsidiary of the University of Oxford responsible for the development and management of its global brand licensing programme, which generates royalty revenue for the University and serves to promote its image around the world.
Licensing Executive
We are seeking a Licensing Executive with excellent communication skills, an eye for detail and commercial insight & acumen. The role will oversee the day to day operation of the brand licensing business, liaising with agents and licensees around the world, providing information and material to support development and growth, and managing the product approval process. Experience of the licensing industry would be ideal, but any relevant experience from the marketing or legal industries will be considered. Salary £20 - £25k plus bonus, pension and a wide range of benefits.

Head of Operations
We are seeking a Head of Operations, responsible for the management and development of our relationships with all parts of the collegiate university, and for influencing and securing the support from key individuals and organisations in order to enable the delivery of the company's objectives and commercial initiatives. This is an important role for the continued development of the company, requiring considerable communication and negotiation skills as well as commercial insight and acumen. Previous experience of working inside the University is essential. Salary £30 - £35k plus bonus, pension and a wide range of benefits.

HOUSES & FLATS TO LET

STUDIO FLAT, SUMMERTOWN. Separate kitchen/diner. £710 pcm, all inc. Single occupancy only. Tel: 01865 513418. zk77@users.dailyinfo.co.uk

LANDLORDS WANTED
Calling Oxford Landlords £200 finders fee
Only available up to 31 October 2010 for urgently needed two bed private rented properties in Oxford
Due to exceptional demand, Oxford City Council will pay a "finders fee" of £200 for any two bed property let to a client, supported by a deposit or bond from the Home Choice scheme in October 2010. The tenancy will have to be for a minimum term of 12 months.
The scheme offers fast tracking of Local Housing Allowance claims, rent paid direct to Landlord and assistance with tenancy issues without charging a fee.
The Home Choice scheme is a Council initiative to help households, that may otherwise become homeless, to access property in the private rented sector.
For further information and for help in finding possible tenants, contact the Private Rented Sector team at Oxford City Council.
