Bright futures for bright sparks

e-business Consultants and System Implementers £22-25,000 + excellent benefits. Guildford based

Everything we do is driven by a single overriding objective - to provide our clients with tangible business advantage through the application of advanced communication and information technologies. Our technical expertise, plus our understanding of our clients' business needs, means that we can help our clients navigate through the minefield of new technologies. That means looking beyond the obvious. It means delivering radical improvements to our clients' businesses. Above all, it means recruiting and developing the most innovative and talented minds in the business. And that's where you come in. You will need a blend of excellent technical understanding, interpersonal skills and commercial awareness. We seek graduates and post-graduates of outstanding calibre. A 2:1 first degree or better in a numerate discipline is essential. To succeed in a consultancy environment, you will need excellent communication skills and the commitment to produce the highest quality work on time and to budget. We will help you build upon these starting skills with our training and development programme. In addition, our strategy of aggressive growth will ensure continued creation of career development opportunities. The level of responsibility, customer contact and variety of work we offer our staff is unique. If you feel you can meet the challenge then why not find out more about us?
