CFQ for Beginners

CFQ is a system which reduces stress and promotes relaxation and wellbeing.

CFQ level one consists of a series of simple, relaxed movements. Think tai chi, only much, much easier. It is particularly suitable for people who have to spend a lot of time thinking and concentrating and find it hard to switch off afterwards.

There are two weekly CFQ classes in Oxford:
Monday afternoon, 2.00 - 3.30pm
Wednesday evening, 7.00 - 8.30pm

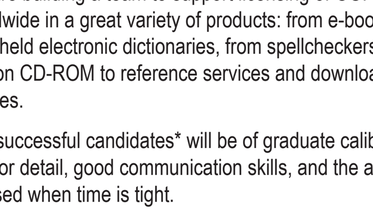
Electronic Reference Product Testing
Want to work on exciting new electronic products using Oxford's renowned dictionary, reference, and medical content?



We are building a team to support licensing of OUP's content worldwide in a great variety of products: from e-books for PDA to handheld electronic dictionaries, from spellcheckers and translators on CD-ROM to reference services and downloads for mobile phones.

The successful candidates* will be of graduate calibre, with an eye for detail, good communication skills, and the ability to keep focused when time is tight.

Responsibilities will include:
- Testing OUP content in prototypes and beta websites
- Advising clients during product development
- Checking and analysis of structured data
- Supplying samples/information to potential licensees

Candidates should have proven experience of advising clients, QA testing, working to deadlines, and some knowledge of structured data (especially XML).

Experience working in publishing or the information industry, and proficiency in a modern European language would be an advantage.

* There is one full-time position, but we also need freelancers to supplement the inhouse team.
