OXFORD PAST
It is hard to believe that as recently as the 1960s an undergraduate could be sent down (ie, permanently expelled) if a woman was found in his rooms after midnight. Stories abound of adventures had while climbing into - or out of - college after hours. It was considered especially daring for a man to have a bath in a women's college, and it was reputed that anyone who had achieved this with impunity was allowed to wear a navy blue tie emblazoned with silver taps. If he could also produce the bath taps themselves, he was entitled to gold taps on the tie. Now, alas, with mixed colleges, such escapades have long since disappeared.

Up to about 50 years ago, the majority of dons were in Holy Orders, Latin was a compulsory entrance subject for all disciplines, and daily attendance at morning chapel was required from all those living in College, including

PUBLICISE YOUR NEEDS ON WWW.DAILYINFO.CO.UK

1. It's simple - type in direct from your own computer
2. It's immediate - your message is seen by viewers straight away
3. You can do it any time - 24 hours!
4. It has a large local audience - 110 thousand visitors last month (average of 5 pages and 9 minutes each)
5. Excellent type of customer - Yourself!
6. It's inexpensive - up to 10 words free for a week on the web (private individuals only), otherwise 40p per word + VAT for a week on the web and inclusion in one issue of this sheet

WHAT IS DAILYINFO?

Daily Information has been running continuously in Oxford since 1964, when it was founded by a graduate student who realised the inter-collegiate need to publicise events at very short notice.

Today, as well as being a printed sheet displayed in over 400 public locations citywide, it is the busiest comprehensive web guide to Oxford. Featuring: local accommodation, jobs, services, sales, tuition offered & wanted, personals, entertainment & eating-out listings, reviews, a thriving discussion forum and information exchange ('Get Help For Anything') & much, much more. Upward of 4,000 individual visitors use the site every day. Daily Info is still run by its original founder (who has now finished his studies)!

This sheet displays just a fraction of the information you can find on www.dailyinfo.co.uk.
Do have a look!

TIMES CHANGE

Up to the early 20s the chaperone was busy ...
... at the tutorial

If a lady was in a man's rooms after 10pm he was fined

If she stayed all night he was sent down ...

... when men came to tea

A woman undergraduate was expected to be in College by 11pm ...

A lecturer's horror at seeing a woman in his audience!

Compulsory morning chapel was in force until 1952 in some colleges

No drinking in pubs! ... the Proctor and "Bulldogs" were on the prowl ...

"Are you a member of the University?"
"Your name and College, Sir"

Compulsory green lights identified undergraduate cars

University rules which operated until well after the Second World War include the following:

- All undergraduates' cars carried green identification lights, were not permitted to be parked in the streets overnight, and were not allowed to be used in the mornings. (In the 1960s, however, undergraduates were not allowed to keep cars at all.)
- No undergraduates were allowed into pubs.
- Written proctorial permission was required for all dances (the Proctors are responsible for discipline within the University; the way round this was to have a 'Social Evening' with the dancing interrupted for a statutory proctorial game of 'Pin the Tail on the Donkey' or similar).
