MARY POTTER'S OXFORD
ZULEIKA DOBSON
 An Oxford Love Story, 1911
 Zuleika Dobson (1872-1956) was one of the most renowned authors, caricaturists and parodists of his day. Zuleika Dobson, his first full-length novel, was received with great enthusiasm, and remains one of the most enduringly popular of all Oxford stories: not only for its keen satire and memorable one liners, but also for its charmingly lyrical evocation of Edwardian undergraduate life. The novelist E. M. Forster described it as "a great work - the most consistent achievement of fantasy of our time... so funny and charming, so irresistible yet so profound."
 Originally published in 1911, the story concerns the visit to Oxford of Zuleika Dobson, a femme fatale of such astounding beauty that the stone heads surrounding the Sheldonian break into a sweat as she passes. It is Eights week, and the heroine is come to stay with her Grandfather, the warden of the privileged, all-male domain of Jesus College. Unsurprisingly, the tweed and flannel clad undergraduates all fall hopelessly in love with her, including the rich and gifted Duke of Dorset. But Zuleika, a conjurer by trade, is only able to love a man who shows himself to be impervious to her charms. This restriction proves fatal - one by one her suitors, made desperate by rejection, commit suicide, until finally, on the final day of the burning goose, a vast crowd of undergraduates hurl themselves into the Isis, crying her name as they sink beneath the water. Their sacrifice does affect our heroine, but not as one might expect. That very evening she asks her maid to consult Bradshaw (the railway timetable). "See if it is possible to go direct from here to Cambridge," she says.

WINE BAR REVIEW
Summertown Wine Cafe
 38 South Parade, Summertown, Oxford OX2 7JN
 Phone: 01865 558800, www.summertownwinecafe.co.uk
 This is a great place for a cosy and unusual night out. Swanky, but affordably so. £12 for 12 starter shots of wine; glasses of posh wine from £4.60, and organic herbal teas at £1.50 per tall china pot. The night life, with special snacks: cheesy flat things halfway between a crepe and a pizza, produced in a van out the back. A traditional Alsatian dish, apparently they certainly went very well with the wine. They were about £2.60 each. Comforting, elegant, soft-voiced decor and lots of little nooks where you can sit and gossip privately to your friends. Everything, even the service, seems to have been designed with a sensible and civilised eye to your comfort. This shouldn't be as rare a thing as it is - but I feel unreasonably grateful to a place where you get courtesy marshmallows and an inch of foam on a £2 hot chocolate, and where the staff treat you with the same courtesy whether you're ordering champagne or tea, and don't constantly put up at your elbow badgering you to see "if everything's all right".

Books
 Customers are invited to taste the wine before ordering. Decisions made, you can choose from the bar - a secluded area with arms and tables for a larger group of someone's house - only by going on Sunday at 2pm is the atmosphere of a country house party, with people relaxing, reading the papers and chatting. Beyond large windows is a garden - given our current weather conditions - we did not explore.
 In a way, I wish I had not written this since the place just MIGHT become too popular - but too late now!
