JOBS

OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS

Digital Production Editor

Oxford University Press is a department of the University of Oxford which furthers the University's objective of excellence in research, scholarship, and education by publishing worldwide.

The ELT Division is a global leader in the provision of multimedia English language teaching and learning materials. Operating in over 100 countries, it reaches millions of teachers and students each year to support the development of English language proficiency.

We are seeking a Digital Production Editor to join our newly-created Content Development Unit (DCDU). The DCDU supports Adult and Schools publishing for ELT courses worldwide.

The Digital Production Editor will work with the DCDU in all editorial and production aspects of digital content delivery, such as CD ROMs, websites and online content. The role will include copy-editing, compiling briefs, proofing digital content, checking functionality and artwork/other assets, liaising with freelancers and maintaining schedules.

The ideal candidate will have proven editorial experience, ideally in educational publishing, with excellent organisational skills, a keen eye for detail and the ability to work to tight deadlines. Experience of working with digital content delivery (e.g. XML/HTML editing) would be advantageous.

The salary offered will be in the region of £21,000 depending on the skills and experience. OUP offers a full range of supporting benefits.

Closing date: 09 May 2010
To apply please visit <http://ukjobs.oup.com>
